METHODIST CHURCH.

Shan M. Hull, Pastor.

The Young People's Camp of the Blue Bonnet Union, which was held at Camp Fawcett, July 22-27, came to a close last Saturday morning. From some standpoints, this was one of the most successful camps that we have ever attended. The camp was not what we had hoped for from a numerical standpoint; yet from the standpoint of the type of work done, and the spirit of cooperation that prevailed in the camp, it was a "howling success". The Young People of the Hondo Methodist Church wish to express publicly their appreciation and thanks to Mr. Jim Amberson for the kindness he showed them in taking them to and from the camp in his Ford V-8 truck. By the way, Mr. Amberson carried the Young People to the camp last summer, also. If all of our towns and churches had more men like "Jim", our Young People would have no trouble in getting to attend our District camps.

We are coming very rapidly to the close of another Conference year, there being just three more months left before Conference. We trust that we shall all make the very best that's possible of these next three months. The harvest is being gathered, and we are trusting that our people are going to get a reasonably good price for their products; and of course if they do, they will not forget their church obligations.

This coming Sunday morning will be our regular Communion Day; shall we not expect a goodly number present for the service? The service for this coming Sunday evening will be held at the Baptist Church, at 8 o'clock, with the Methodist Pastor bringing the message. We are having fine services in our union efforts these Sunday evenings. Give us a good hearing next Sunday, at both of the services.

"Come thou with us, we'll do thee good."

GONE TO THE MUSEUM.

Mr. J. Marvin Hunter, proprietor of Hunter's Frontier Times Museum of Bandera, was a visitor in Hondo yesterday and took back with him for exhibition in his Museum the Washington hand press upon which the old D'Hanis News and later The Star were printed.

The old press was brought to D'Hanis by J. M. McLeese when he started the paper in the late 1900's. After selling it, the paper changed hands several times, was suspended for a while and in the summer of 1914 was rejuvenated under the name of The Star. The editor of this paper bought it in the late summer or early autumn of 1914 and printed one side of The Star on it for nearly nine years. Some time in 1923, we quit using it, printing both sides of the paper in Hondo until it was discontinued the last of December 1923. Since shortly after that time, the dismantled press has accumulated dust in the editor's barn. It will from now on be an object of curiosity among the other ancient relics in the museum. It is probably the last G. Washington to see actual service in issuing a newspaper in Southwest Texas.

Last week we boasted of not being superstitious, but if we lose our luck we know that it will be because we let Mr. Hunter get away with our "rabbit foot", only in this case it was the front paw of probably the last bear killed in the Utopia-Leakey country. It was presented to our predecessor, Judge L. J. Brucks, when he edited The Herald and had been in our possession since October 1903.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED.

A lovely courtesy extended Miss Frankie Mae Cloudt, bride-elect of Jack Fusselman, was the shower and tea Monday afternoon, July 29, from 3:30 to 6:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. L. A. Mechler. Hostesses were Mesdames Horace Schweers, Jerry Smith, Emmett Kollman, Newell Woolls and George R. Carle, and Misses Irene Mechler and Gladys Fusselman.

Receiving with the honoree were Mrs. L. A. Mechler, Mrs. Jack M. Fusselman and Miss Cloudt's mother, Mrs. F. E. Cloudt, of Rocksprings. Mrs. Emmett Kollman presided over the bride's book.

The living room was decorated with brightly colored zinnias. In the dining room, pink roses were used in decoration. The lace covered table had for an exquisite center arrangement a low bowl of the pink roses, flanked by lighted white tapers in crystal holders. Serving the refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and spiced tea were Misses Gladys Fusselman, Irene Mechler, Billy Fusselman and Roseina Taylor.

The honoree wore a becoming model of pink lace, with white accessories.

About fifty guests registered in the bride's book during the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wiede of Lockhart were the week-end guests of Mrs. Wiede's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Gaines.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By Edson R. Waite,
Shawnee, Oklahoma.

Community progress is synonymous with community effort.

Too many people regard with blasé indifference all but what effects their own personal comfort and convenience and give little thought to those factors that make them possible.

When business is lagging is the time to spend more money for advertising. Business men who advertise feel a depression much less than those who cut down expenses by cutting down advertising.

"While the desire to ride is instinctive in every person, the automobile business would not be what it is today had it not been for the tremendous glamour which has been built up around the pleasures of ownership of a motor car through automobile shows, millions of dollars worth of ADVERTISING, and automobiles enthusiastically presented directly to the prospect by the retail salesman," so says Roy H. Faulkner, president of the Auburn Automobile Company.

The surest way to get satisfactory results in any undertaking is to find the best method of doing the job and then get busy and do it.

The trade-at-home man is the one who gets the best of everything.

FUSSELMAN-CLOUDT.

A wedding of interest to a wide circle of friends was that of Miss Frankie Mae Cloudt and Jack Murphy Fusselman of Hondo, which took place last evening, August 1st, at 5 o'clock, in the Grove Avenue Church of Christ, San Antonio. Rev. Jesse P. Sewell, pastor, performed the ceremony. There were no attendants.

The bride was lovely in a navy blue triple sheer suit, with short fitted coat fashioned with a large white collar and white buttons, with which she wore a navy blue felt hat and dark blue accessories.

After a brief honeymoon in San Antonio Mr. and Mrs. Fusselman will reside in an apartment at the Fanny Carle residence in Hondo.

Miss Cloudt is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Cloudt of Rocksprings, Texas. She graduated in 1933 from the Rocksprings High School, later in the summer of the same year moving with her parents to Hondo. She has been employed as a stenographer for the Medina County Board of Re-Employment.

Jack is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack M. Fusselman of Hondo. He graduated with the class of 1930 from Hondo High School, and since that time has been employed by the Carle Confectionery in Hondo.

Among those who attended the wedding in San Antonio were Mr. and Mrs. Jack M. Fusselman, Mrs. Newell Woolls and children, Misses Gladys, Virginia and Billy Fusselman, Mrs. Ray Taylor and Miss Roseina Taylor, Misses Mary Ruth Wilson and Evelyn Barnes, all of Hondo, Miss Clarabelle Blackaller of Pearsall, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Cloudt, Mrs. Clara Kirkland, and Buster Cloudt, all of Rocksprings. This paper joins the many friends of the young couple in extending congratulations and best wishes.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

We are living in a day when as never before the natural craving for news is being satisfied at every turn. It was said of the Athenians that they gathered about the market place with primarily one interest in mind: to hear something new. With modern means of communication this man can hear the news very soon after its occurrence.

The Christian is interested in other news also. He does not only wish to know what man has been doing, but also what man is. He deems it of great importance to look into the inner man and find out the underlying motives for good or bad behavior. Scripture alone reveals to us this all-important Truth. In the words of St. Paul to the Ephesians, chapter 4, we hear: "That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness." 22-24.

Services at St. Paul's next Sunday in English at 9:30; Sunday school and Bible class at 8:30.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet on Wednesday, August 7, at 2:30 with Mrs. Felix Batot as hostess. She has invited the Aid to meet her at the Medina River in Castrovilla. We surely do all wish to be present.

CASTROVILLE SEEKS NEW SCHOOL BUILDING.

Hon. Jordan T. Lawler, Prof. W. R. Lawrence and C. E. McVay of Castrovilla were in Uvalde Tuesday morning conferring with Works Progress Administration officials relative to a new school building in that city. They hope to erect a combination grade-high school building costing approximately $20,000. McVay formerly was superintendent of the White's Mine near Cline for eight years before going to Castrovilla some nine years ago. He is now engaged in farming on the Medina river at Castrovilla, and also has a fine pecan orchard.—Uvalde Leader-News.

QUIHI NOTES.

Then Abraham fell on his face and laughed. Gen. 17: 17.

"A laugh a day keeps the doctor away." Granted, if the patient is well otherwise. And if that advisory board can give us a good daily cause for a laugh, the recipe is complete. Can they? No doubt, "there is a time to weep and a time to laugh", but much of human laughter is misplaced, causeless, insincere, artificial pose. What a difference between the true ring of childish merriment and the grunting grimace of the skeptic! And what all is covered up from the giggle to the "horse-laugh", and whatever shade of laughter that might lie between the two. Often far away from the expression of real joy, that laugh may express pain, wrath, doubt, derision, defiance, challenge, revenge, anything but rejoicing. It may, it may not, be a true indicator of the heart's fair weather chart. What might Abrahams' laugh stand for? Out of sheer grace the Lord had given him promise after promise, one greater than the other, loading his faith to the limit, to the breaking point, as it were, with seemingly impossible things. He lies prostrate while he laughs. It spells submission, not unbelief. He envisions those things promised, he is overcome with the anticipation, the realization of them. What "eyes have not seen and ears have not heard", things far beyond his expectation and hope, make his heart rejoice. The same is in store for us, and did such a laugh ever brighten our face?

The fodder gathering is still going on in this section. And what splendid loads are hauled in, to replenish the vacancies made during the dry years. The rainy spells increased concentration and effort while they threatened and gave a welcome recess for these overworked muscles and allowed to make up for lost sleep. There was damage and some loss here and there, but in general it was weather "made to order" and we hope the Lord is able to discover sincere thankfulness in the hearts of the harvesters.

The teachers of the Sunday school will meet next Friday. Your work goes on uninterrupted and untrifled, in spite of war clouds, lobbying investigations, political scheming, economic experiments, clashes here and shiftings there. It may be activity on a small scale only and involving little of monetary considerations—the main cause of all the worldly turmoil—but you are concerned with immortal souls and in the estimate of God these amount to more than the millions and billions that are supposed to cure human misery and secure contentment and peace. So far these utterly failed; you are apt to have better success, modest as it might be.

Announcements for August the 4th: German service at 10; Sunday school and Bible classes at 9; evening service at 8. Let us attend these services. If we deny Him, he also will deny us. II Thes. 2:12.

SO MUCH FOR SO LITTLE.

FARMING is in a position to do an unusually good turn for its friends by furnishing them both FARMING and The Pathfinder a full year for the bargain price of only $1.00. The Pathfinder is America's most appreciated weekly magazine, published at the Nation's Capital, for all the nation. It deals with politics, government, science, industry, world events and every subject that intelligent people want to know about. It is not partisan. It never boosts favored individuals or pet doctrines. In The Pathfinder you get much interesting information—many pertinent facts that are seldom published elsewhere. You and your whole family, young and old, will like The Pathfinder, as millions of others do. FARMING and The Pathfinder make a splendid team; each one supplements the other to give you a COMPLETE reading service. You need both of them. Don't miss this chance.

MURDER MYSTERY BANK NIGHT FEATURE.

A cast of familiar screen names, including Conway Tearle, Boots Mallory and Hardie Albright, is found in the suspenseful mystery melodrama, "Sing Sing Nights", which is the feature attraction at the Colonial Theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

The plot concerns three doomed men in Sing Sing death cell, each of whom confessed murdering the same man. A scientist uses his lie-detecting machine on each man in turn to determine his veracity as he recites the events leading up to the killing. The flash-backs take you to South America, China and an American city.

SACRIFICE SALE.

A small cash payment for the owner's equity and the assumption of certain long-time indebtedness can secure possession of some of the best farm lands in Medina County and valuable town property in Hondo with long time to pay out. No curiosity seekers wanted, but if looking for good property as an investment or for farm or business location ask us about it.

Being News, Views and Reviews

By the

MANAGING EDITOR.

One of the causes contributing largely to the evil effects of the depression is the reluctance with which people meet their financial obligations. For instance, if you have a dollar in your pocket and keep it there (or worse, "below it in" needlessly) instead of paying the man you owe the dollar your act stops him from paying what he owes, and the whole stream of business dries up and credit is endangered, insofar as that dollar is concerned. On the other hand, if you pay the man you owe, he can pay the one he owes, etc., on in an endless cycle that may soon or late bring it back to you in payment of a debt someone owes you or to purchase something you have to sell. In the end, you would have your dollar back, a lot of business would have been done, a load of debt would have been lifted, and a lot of people made happy. If you want to try the experiment and know yourself indebted to the M. E. we are in a most receptive mood.

In this complex life we live, man finds himself owing many obligations to many different interests. For instance, there is a duty a man owes as a good citizen to his country and there is a duty he owes as a good man to his church. These duties never conflict unless the one over-steps its bounds and trespasses upon the realms of the other. As a good citizen the duty of exercising one's own judgment and acting according to the dictates of his own conscience and without dictation from any one in the exercise of his right of sovereignty is imperative. In arriving at a correct and rational judgment before acting, it is his right to solicit and accept the counsel of whomsoever he chooses to consult. It is any man's right to offer his counsel unsolicited. But beyond that no man has a right to go. We hold no brief for the clergy, but we feel sure that few among them would so far forget as to confuse his authority to command obedience in spiritual things with the authority to demand obedience in political matters—would want to be understood as commanding where only entitled to counsel. The best intentioned teachers fail when misunderstood. A right understanding by the layman of the true attitude of his church teachers in this respect would go far towards laying much of the prejudice and false accusation from which the church suffers in these troublous times of prejudice and malevolent propaganda.

THE ISSUE OF FREEDOM.

A recent editorial in Liberty said: "Our pioneer ancestors were determined to be free men. They wanted the privilege of guiding their own destiny, of forming their own government, of living their own lives in accordance with the dictates of their conscience and intelligence. And they valued their citizenship, the Constitutional rights delegated to them. As citizens they were far better informed about their government than we are today. We were born into it. It has come to us through inheritance. And like the idle shiftless sons of rich men, having made no sacrifices for our liberties, we value them lightly. And perhaps much of the freedom we now enjoy may be lost before we awaken to the dangers that now confront us."

Too many Americans pay no attention to government. They accept the proposal and passage of laws that are opposed to both the letter and spirit of the Constitution without complaint. They watch the growth of political bureaucracy, and the centralization of political power, without the slightest regard as to what that may do to our institutions.

Recent decisions of the Supreme Court in the NRA and other cases have, it is to be hoped, helped to focus a measure of public attention on the issue of freedom versus political dictatorship. If America is to be maintained as a free democracy, the home of free men, every citizen must do his part to keep it so. He must realize that there can be no temporizing with those who would change our system of government—even as there can be no compromise between individualism and socialism, communism or fascism.—Industrial News Review.

Hints for Motorists

By C. R. Strouse

Director, School of Automobiles, International Correspondence Schools

THE following method usually works when a wheel you want to remove sticks so badly that the ordinary wheel-pulling methods fail. Jack up the corresponding wheel on the opposite side of the car. Unscrew the hub nut of the wheel you want to remove so as to bring the nut flush with the threaded end of the axle. Then strike the axle end a number of sharp blows with a heavy hammer. The combined pressure and jarring will almost always do the trick.

To straighten out dents in the body that can't easily be gotten at from inside, remove the enamel from the damaged area, sandpaper, and apply a light coating of solder. Bend a strong wire at right angles and solder one side of the angle to the center of the dent. Form the free end of the wire into a hook and insert a bar to act as a handle or lever. Pulling on this or using it as a lever will usually pull out the dent. Touch up with enamel after removing solder with a blowtorch.

BEANS Set New Week-End Motif

SATURDAY night baked-beans, an institution as old as the ancestral bean pot for which Bostonians are famous, have become a week-end favorite—not only in Boston but all over the country. Entertaining over the week-end has become a simple matter in homes where cupboards are well-stocked with canned beans and recipes such as these.

Beans in Summer Mode

Beans and Asparagus Salad: Drain the contents of a No. 2 can of all-green asparagus, one cup of canned lima beans and the contents of one No. 1 can of stringless beans. Peel two firm ripe tomatoes and slice one bunch of radishes. Marinate all of the vegetables separately in French dressing. Line a large salad bowl with lettuce and stand the asparagus tips up around the outside. Toss the rest of the vegetables lightly together and pile in the middle. Serve with mayonnaise. This serves eight persons.

Lima Beans with Shrimp Cover: Drain the contents of one No. 2 can of lima beans and turn into a shallow buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Drain the contents of one 5½-ounce can of shrimps, remove the viscera and spread over the beans. Add two tablespoons of cream. Cover lightly with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven until brown on top. This serves four persons.

Buttered Beans: Heat the contents of one 10½-ounce can of stringless beans in their liquor for about five minutes. Add salt, pepper and one and one-half tablespoons butter. Serves four persons.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Starnes were hosts to the night bridge club on Wednesday night of this week, entertaining with three tables of bridge. Following the games, prizes were awarded Mrs. L. E. Heath and Dr. T. B. Knopp for members, and Mr. Robert Kollman for guests. A lime ice and drink were served. The guests were Dr. and Mrs. O. B. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Heath, Dr. and Mrs. T. B. Knopp, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Brucks, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kollman, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Starnes.

Mrs. George Windrow and children returned to their home in Falfurrias Monday after a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Taylor. They were accompanied to Falfurrias by Miss Zonie Taylor, who will spend several weeks with them there.

Miss Hetty Nester left Thursday for LaGrange, Texas, where she will visit Miss Evelyn Sulic for several days. Miss Nester and Miss Sulic were roommates at Littlefield Dormitory, when they attended Texas University in Austin.

Mr. Clifford Sadler, Vocational Agriculture teacher in Hondo High School, attended a Convention of the Future Farmers of America at Lubbock last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Earmen Taylor of East Texas have been the guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Taylor. They left for their home Monday, accompanied by their sister, Miss Dottie Taylor, who will be their guest for two weeks.

The names of Lillian Moehring of Hondo and August Spott of Tarpley were called Tuesday night to receive the $100 and $80, respectively, at the Colonial Theatre. Neither was present. The two accounts for next week are $100 each.

Dr. M. S. Derankou, optometrist, who has his permanent office here, plans to leave Aug. 11 for Corpus Christi where every year he spends a two months' vacation. His office will be closed for that length of time, and will be opened again some time in October when the Doctor returns.

Miss Marion Brauer of Del Rio, who is attending summer school in San Antonio, and Miss Lucy Davis spent Wednesday afternoon with Miss Laurinda Rothe near D'Hanis. They accompanied Mrs. Nora Horn of Del Rio, Mrs. Bertha Griffin and a Mr. Parks of San Antonio, who went on to Sabinal to visit Mrs. Mary Reinhart.

Mr. O. H. Miller, local distributor for the McCormick-Deering Farm implements and machinery, reports good business in that line despite the depression. He placed several farm tractors during the season just passed. The McCormick-Deering line is one of high quality and the farmer who invests in their equipment receives full value for his money.

Dr. H. J. Meyer was taken seriously ill during the night Tuesday evening and for a while suffered intense pain. Medical aid was summoned and on advice of his physicians he was taken to San Antonio Wednesday morning. After an X-Ray examination at the hospital, it was decided that he should remain there for observation until further developments. At last report, his sufferings had been somewhat relieved but the presence of a temperature showed that there was still an organic derangement.

In a three month's campaign ending March 30, Jasper county farmer-immunized 4000 pigs against hog cholera and checked a disease that had been raging in approximately 10 communities for six months. Seventeen practical farmers trained in the work participated in this campaign. According to reliable estimates of farmers, 3500 pigs died with the disease before it was brought under control. The campaign was conducted in connection with the farm meat supply program, the purpose of which is to insure an adequate meat supply for every farm home.

Middle-West Not Yet a Wilderness

IN spite of the warning by H. H. Bennet, director of soil erosion for the United States Department of the Interior, that great areas in the dust storm belt of the west may be turned into deserts, and the prediction of Rexford G. Tugwell, Under-Secretary of Agriculture, that unless the Administration's land program were carried out the Middle West would become as barren as the interior of China, the middle western farmers do not seem to have taken alarm.

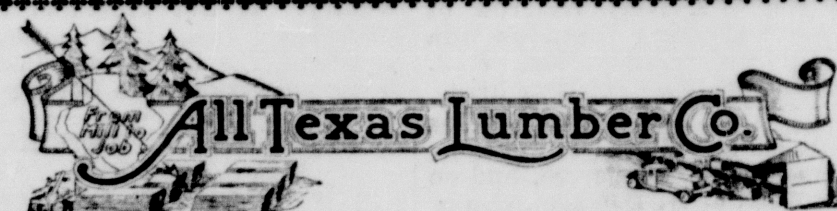

When the latter made his meaning clear by telling an imaginary story of an explorer of 2235 A.D. who finds the Mississippi Valley a dusty, uninhabited desert, William Allen White, the Kansas philosopher, expressed the farmers' state of mind when he said: "Prophecy is always a major blunder in politics and it is even a greater blunder to match factuality with folly. So let Tugwell have it his own way—for neither of us will be here to laugh at the other's blunders."

Corn in Great Demand

Because of its importance as an energy food, and the danger of a repetition of the damage wrought by drought to last year's crops, corn is now in great demand. Last year's plentiful pack of corn will make it possible, however, for housewives to stock up so that they will have an adequate supply on hand.

Canned corn can be used in a variety of ways besides being served as a vegetable. It makes very delicious corn fritters and the cream-style corn is well adapted to corn puddings, to soups and to many kinds of corn breads. Try these:

Corn Cakes: Beat two eggs well, add one-half cup sour milk, one-fourth teaspoon soda and one cup canned corn. Sift together one cup flour, one-half teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking powder, and add. Add one tablespoon melted butter. Fry in small cakes on a hot griddle. Serve with pork sausage and gravy or with maple syrup.

SEE NEXT WEEK'S PAPER

Life's opportunities are often lost through lack of knowledge of how to use them!

Waste is the worst enemy of success. Now is the harvest season and nothing of food or feed value should be allowed to waste where it is possible to save it.

With the government tending constantly more and more towards socialism in its dealings with the masses and more subservient to the masters of finance it behooves everyone to beware of whither we are drifting.

The Utopian dream of ending the depression and taking everybody off the dole by July 1st with $4,800,000,000.00 of borrowed money seems to be bogged down. There are said to be more unemployed people today than at any time since the depression set in.

With this issue of FARMING the paper enters its XIVth volume. There has been a terrible mortality among farm papers during the past five years but, thanks to its friends, FARMING still goes on. Won't you be of that number who are helping us carry on?

Recovery must be founded on confidence and must grow on confidence, for without confidence capital will not venture and without new capital invested business will not expand. There is plenty of capital available, but the confidence is lacking. The succession of many experimental devices to recapture prosperity confuses and frightens the business man.—Senator Byrd of Virginia.

Farm harvests are at hand now in many sections of the country and money should become easier with our friends wherever there is something to sell. Don't forget that it takes the money received from subscribers to maintain an independent farm paper like FARMING. Your prompt renewal will come at an opportune time. Won't you use the blank on the second page and help us extend our circulation?

Frozen credit sources having stopped the normal flow of money through the channels of business and industry, thus stopping their usual functioning and throwing millions of workers out of employment, the natural common sense method of relief would be to remove the cause by breaking the jam and permitting the free flow of credit. The measures now pending before Congress proposing to refinance farm mortgages and pay the soldier bonus with government currency would start that flow and end the depression. But it would break up the deep-laid schemes of the international money manipulators. Don't depend too much on its happening.

Sophomoric discussions of the evils of liquor of the "lips-that-touch-liquor-shall-never-touch mine" brand should have no place in the present campaign to repeal the Texas prohibition amendment. Whether there be those who could be so obtuse as to deny the evils inherent in the nature of liquor, surely none are so dumb as to hold that the kind of prohibition we have has taken them out. If the anti's claim that the repeal amendment will prevent the "open" saloon from coming back is too transparent a fabrication to be even a joke, it should be equally apparent that we have never been without it and never will be under the present prohibition regime. It, therefore, seems to us that any change that holds a hope of ending a system wherein the fellow with a pull waxes rich racketeering while the friendless devil goes to the pen for possessing a little homebrew should enlist the support of all right thinking people.

with Our Folks a-while---at

THE EDITOR'S TURN-ROW

THAT INHERITANCE TAX.

It is true, tho' most folks do not realize it, that no man has a right to say what shall be done with his wealth after he is dead. A dead man can own nothing. The passing on of his property by will is a privilege granted by statute, and not a fundamental right. The State, which has granted the privilege of leaving wealth to one's descendants, has a perfect right to revoke that right at any time. There is, therefore, no question of elemental rights involved in any proposal to tax inheritance up to as high as 100 per cent. The only question of consequence is one of public policy.—Lockhart Post-Register.

Of all the strange doctrine that is part and parcel of the New Deal law and philosophy this is the strangest yet!

To provide for one's offspring is a primal instinct of all animal life.

Two striking examples are the dirt-dauber and the tumble-bug, neither of which lives to enjoy the gratitude of the progeny for which they provide so zealously.

Not to strive to leave a heritage to his children is to be less imbued with love for his own than the bugs.

Nature or nature's god having implanted this impulse in the animal nature of man, it becomes his DUTY to obey the impulse—and all normal creatures do!

And every duty that carries with it an inherent obligation to perform carries with it the FUNDAMENTAL RIGHT to all it implies.

What it is man's duty and right by nature to do it is no man's right to say him nay; he can not rightfully alienate himself from its performance.

So much for man's natural rights, which because they are natural are "elemental", and from them he cannot be rightfully divested.

Holy Writ, the exponent of Divine law, says:

"But if any provide not for his own, and specially for those of his own house, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel."

What are we to understand by "providing for his own"?

Elsewhere the scriptures admonish us to "do whatever our hand findeth to do with all our might".

We take it from this that if it is in accordance with Divine law that man feed the infant, that it may live and grow, likewise he should train and educate the child that it may be equipped to meet the issues of life.

If right that man should train the youth, it is likewise right, if he can, to also equip him with material means as well.

This means his right to will and devise that which is his own to whomsoever he chooses as "his own".

He who does less does not do "with all his might".

Natural law and Divine law being on the side of the devisor, who shall gainsay or dispute his rights?

Surely not a man-made government which, by its very nature, has no inherent right to anything and can rightfully exercise no function save that first delegated to it by the "consent of the governed".

Strange doctrine indeed that a creature of man's own creating must delegate to man a "privilege" to dispose of what his own knowledge, skill and industry has created.

We believe the better reasoning is that instead of the government having prior claim on man's production and our inheritance laws being a gratuitous privilege granted him, the law is a recognition of man's elemental rights and is a mere means provided for simplifying the devising of a man's property.

To reason otherwise is to assume that government, instead of being a social compact entered into by mutual consent for man's convenience, and functions normally and rightly only when it is man's servant, government is a Frankenstein owning and controlling man and his substance in both life and death.

A strange concept of government is this in a country that is supposed to have long ago repudiated the divine right of kings and the fetish that man, instead of being a sovereign in his own right, is himself, with all he possesses, a chattel of his king.

From a humanitarian standpoint, for the hand of the tax-taker to rob the dying pillow of the consolation of knowing that one's loved ones have been safely cared for is to put to shame the ghouls that at least wait until death has ended all suffering before violating the dead.

GIVE INDUSTRY A FAIR CHANCE

"The power of government to improve conditions is not a drop in the bucket compared to the enormous prosperity-making capacity that lies in the natural tendency of business and industry to make better products at lower cost, to distribute them widely, and in the process to create more jobs and higher wages," said Ernest T. Weir, Chairman of the National Steel Corporation, recently. "This natural capacity has been impotent recently because of the fear and uncertainty engendered among business men by governmental interference."

"It is an often expressed belief that government can neither create nor prevent recovery—but it can retard it for a discouragingly long time. By stifling investments with taxation, by destroying confidence through bureaucratic domination, and by standing in the way of industrial expansion through threats of more and increasingly stringent regimentation of the nation's productive machinery, politics can become prosperity's worst enemy."

"Give industry a fair chance, and it will do its part to bring back good times."

Thus speaks the Industrial News Review.

How can industry be given "a fair chance"?

Not by the New Deal policy of taxing all the profit out of it to pay the enormous expense of government regimentation of said industry.

Not by taxing it to pay interest on borrowed money which the government by borrowing takes out of investment in industry and at the same time exempts both such money and the income derived from such investment from taxation.

Not by forcing industry to try to operate at more expense for fewer hours work and lessened output while paying taxes to dole able-bodied men in idleness.

That way lies a deeper bog of depression and industrial ruin.

Relief lies in the opposite course. Less governmental interference, less government expense, less taxation, no more borrowing and no more interest to pay.

No more farming out of the government's credit to Shylocks, but issuing it in circulating notes direct to industry.

This last point is the vital one.

We must unite on its accomplishment before the others—or any other efforts—are going to bring real and permanent relief.

How much longer are we going to dodge the issue and quarrel over every other possible difference of opinion or waste our means and energy in foolish experiments?

"Divided we shall fail" continued victims to the money-controlling oligarchy that is now our financial and political master.

THE DROUTH.

The plowman held his engine to a line.
The land stretched back beneath a copper sun
Behind his disk; that stirred the long seed-beds
Still crunching, crumbling, crumbling, still he plows
The harsh dry earth, in hopes it yet might rain—

His tired eyes raise to a distant sight,
Mirage like cooling lakes, that shimmer in the sun.
What mockery! mockery in dancing glee!
Discouragement now settled like a pall
Within a father's breast, that could no longer hold
The gathered cloud of ominous dispair—

Nor yet had he discovered shapen clouds,
That soared and dipped to earth and up again
While on they came with sounds of deafening roar,
With rain, and hail, in sheets that plowed the ground.
In torrents came the drenching rain to fill
The thirsty earth with drink to satisfy—

Though wheat was dried and gone—there yet was time,
For fallow ground to yield abundant feed,
And bring a thankfulness that all is well
And then forget—the drouth—and think ahead.

O FOR WORLD PEACE.

Long years I remained optimistic, imagining speedy surcease
From strife, but my vision grows fainter—each milestone dims hope of World Peace.
For armies and navies are growing, more soldiers at drill is the cry,
Warships are maneuvering daily, flying squadrons appear in the sky.
With armaments every land bristles, disputes and fierce tumults abound,
Loud rumblings of cannon re-echo, defense plans are heard the world round.
Chemists are inventing new poisons to wipe out whole armies at will,
Political systems are clashing—Is there no way this madness to still?
Must we forfeit home, love and honor for selfish, unscrupulous gain?
Our sons sacrifice, aye, and daughters to murderous descendants of Cain?
God grant time will come when proud Nations their wars for supremacy cease.
And the whole world joining in the glad anthem, "Good will to all men, on earth, Peace."

HARVESTERS.

O, meadow-lark, I heard your call this morning . . .
Across the burdened fields it challenged me.
Three golden notes of unremembered music.
Three silvery strands of summer's tapestry

And I must rise and to my own accounting—
To sheaves of wheat and shocks of golden corn,
A measure for a measure at the harvest . . .
(Three blasts upon a honey-colored horn)

We are the harvesters: the earth's sweet bounty
Is ours by right of virtue. We incline
To simple runes that follow field and furrow,
Who eat her bread and drink her mellow wine.

RETURN.

Some flitting fancies of the life he'd known—
The heavy labor when the hay was mown,
The rambling rounded tunnels of the mole,
The blasted oak, that stood upon the knoll
Beside the brook, the bluejay's raucous note,
The distant drawling bleating of a goat,
The sweating horses straining at the goad
To drag through mud the wagon's heavy load,
The faint and earthy odor of the loam,
These rambling recollections drew him home.

Regardless of where it gleams,
And tho' you smother your budding sigh,
I'll come unto you, in dreams!

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

The Farmer's Wife does many deeds
Like cooking meals and planting seeds;
She launders clothes, finds time to sew
And drives to town in her auto
When she has finished pulling weeds.

She tends the cows and poultry breeds,
Whose products buy the household needs;
She keeps alert, and you should know
The Farmers' Wife.

She goes to clubs and there proceeds
To give her views on modern creeds;
She reads good books, and then also
Is entertained by radio;
No other human sphere exceeds
The Farmer's Wife.

—IDA MINCUS CLAY.

WHY?

A dew drop shining in the light
And quivering like a bird in flight,
Reminds me of my hungry heart
That sends out sparks from Cupid's dart,
Of love that goes in search of you,
Still hoping that you might be true,
The arrows finding straight their mark
As gayly as a morning lark.
And as my eyes grow strangely dim
My heart intones a soundless hymn;
A song of triumph, chant of love,
While flying comes a trembling dove. . . .
Above the world, beneath the sky
I sing my hymn—can you guess why?

—ELIZABETH GILES WINN.

A PARODY.

Franklin D. Roosevelt (May his tribe decrease!)
Awoke one night from a false dream of peace,
And saw within the walls of his room,
Making the air heavy and dark with gloom,
A Court writing in a book of gold;
Exceeding power had made Roosevelt bold,
And to the Court in the room he softly said:
"What writest thou?" The Court raised its head,
And with a look caused by sincere grief,
Answered, "The death of your NRA, my Chief."
"And am I not to retain my power?" said Franklin. "Not so"
Replied the august Court. Roosevelt speaking more low,
But sternly still; said, "I pray thee, then
Write me as one who loves his rich fellow-men."
The Court arose and vanished to return next night,
When it came again in a spirit of delight,
And showed the names whom love of wealth had blessed,
And, lo! Roosevelt's name led all the rest.

—L. A. SEYMOUR.

THE MODERN DIVES.

Ah! how many struggling souls are hedged about
By bars of circumstance, controlled by fear and doubt,
They feel the lash and sting of want's harsh cruel power,
To crush their brightest dreams before they bud and flower;
Yes, sacrificed by greed upon altars of gold,
Quite often by their fellow men they're bought and sold
To monster Mammon, ruler of the earth supreme:—
Among the humble folks he loves to plot and scheme,
He, Dives, drives a Juggernaut as on he goes
And listens not to helpless ones, nor heeds their woes.

In vain the chain-bound masses struggle to be free,
They rise and fall again in hopeless poverty,
For greed and selfishness are rulers here today.
Lo, Dives dines and he is clothed in fine array;
He rules with mighty hand the earth the sky, the sea,
And daily quaffs the life-blood of humanity.
Unheeded, Lazarus, the broken beggar lies
With plaint that reaches far above the vaulted skies.
O Dives, Dives, your time will come! Relent!
For God will hear the pauper's cry; Repent! Repent!

—JESSICA MOORHEAD YOUNG.

THE LAST MILE.

Before I travel the last mile,
Wrinkled, old and very gray,
May a message be brought to me—
For that only let me stay!
That the Bible has been put back
In schools of the present day—
No matter how high school-buildings tower!
If children learn to pray.
One of my fondest memories
Comes to me, as now I pray;
It's of the Bible in the school
When I was young and gay:

In the little old-fashioned schoolhouse
By the crossed-roads way;
And Bible-reading by scholars
Each morning of the day.

Little did we realize then
That in our minds would oft stray
This scene in vividness so clear,—
Like a sunbeam's bright ray—

When we grew of age to look back
And in Memory's hall lay,
With tender care and loving glance,
Thoughts of that good old way.

If not too particular
'Bout matters curricular,
We two could get solarized.

LASTING.

A flower which stood for thought;
And in painstaking stitches,
A lovely pansy was wrought.

THE BAPTIST A. B. C.

Kind friend please pay attention, to
what I have to say,
I am going to recite a little poem, I
composed the other day,
Just wait and I will tell you what it's going to be,
The name of this peculiar poem, is
the Baptist A. B. C.

A is for any one, who is not afraid
to die,
B is for the blood, we mean to keep
it high,
C stands for Christ, Who saves our
souls from hell,
D is for the Devil, that one you all know well.

E is for the enemy who tries us to upset,
F is for the fountain, into it you
must get,
G is for the Gospel, we give it very
plain,
H is for heaven, come jump aboard
the train.

I stands for ignorance, in every town
it's seen,
J stands for Jesus, who did us all
redeem,
K is for the Kingdom, He promised
unto thee,
L is for the load of sin, from it you
must be free.

M is for the mist, that hangs before
your eyes,
N is for the numbers, who've had a
great surprise,
O just shows eternity, because it has
no end,
P is for the promises, we mean them
to defend.

Q is for the queer folk, who say there
is no hell,
R is for the right folk, who know
that all is well,
S stands for sinners, who are going
about,
T is for the blessed truth, we often
sing and shout.

U stands for unity, we have it in our band,
V stands for vanity, and that will never stand,
W stands for William, a chap that's
saved from hell,
X forms a cross, where you may be saved as well.

Y stands for you, and I hope you all know,
Z is for the zig-zag road, that leads
to pain and woe,
& stands for nothing, what ever that may be,
But I hope you've found nothing wrong with the Baptist A. B. C.

days. Charlie returned to Refugio on Sunday, while the family remained to visit with their family at Hondo and Landera for another week.

Misses Florene Weekley and Ellen Wilson left Monday morning for Camp Fawcett to spend the week.

Miss Dorothy Burgin is off on a pleasure trip to Mexico City for several weeks.

Mrs. Luella Ward was in San Antonio on business last Tuesday.

W. B. Ward and family, Vernon Ward and family, Charlie Ward and ming.

home near Hondo last Sunday after ten days' stay with Mesdames H. N.
Burgin and F. D. Muennink.

Miss Gladys Bohmfalk of San Antonio is at home and is planning to leave for California soon. She will accompany several ladies from San Antonio who will spend the remainder of the summer there.

We are very sorry to report Mr.
August Bohmfalk's health being not what it should be. He has been suffering with neuritis and rheumatism for several months. He is contemplating a trip to Arizona, thinking perhaps the change of climate may be beneficial to him.

Mrs. Joe Haden and family of Marshall have been visitors at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Ray Gilson, for two weeks.

Mr. Jack Montgomery of Zigzag is in this community making sorghum molasses for the folks. He has a portable cane mill which is being moved to any place where cane is ready to be made into syrup.

Broom corn threshing is still going
on. The stuff is very light this year and with low prices and such a tremendous loss by wet season and overflow, the farmers are not making a great deal of money out of the crop.

Mrs. L. F. McCollum and children left for their home in Tulsa, Okla., last week after several weeks' visit with homefolks.

Mr. W. A. Cude went to Somerset last Saturday visiting relatives whom he had not seen for a long time; came back through San Antonio and brought Mr. and Mrs. John McGowan and family back with him.

Mr. Edgar Muennink and sister,
Elna, spent the week-end at home.

Martin Banks accompanied his brother, Prof. Buford Banks, to Mason last week. Martin looked refreshed and thinks the cool breeze of the hill country is preferable to the warm air in the broom corn patches.

Mr. and Mrs. Adelphi Brucks and father, Mr. B. H. Brucks, of Quihi were guests of Mr. H. L. Saathoff and family Sunday.

We failed to mention in last week's issue that Mrs. Joe Ward has her mother, Mrs. Howard, and her daughters from Winterhaven as guests.

George Heiligman, J. J. Tulloch and J. N. Wilson went on a fishing

SAN ANTONIO LIVESTOCK.

Monday, July 29th.

Increased activity in the cattle division marked the opening Monday
of the San Antonio livestock market.

Supplies were liberal and price levels
held steady to slightly higher in spots.

Best grass calves and light yearlings were active at $6.00 to $6.25, or slightly higher than last week's close.

Heavy yearlings and butcher cows
moved more easily but with no appreciable advance in rates. Canners and cutters cashed readily at $1.50

to $2.75. Best butcher cows moved out at $4.00 to $4.50. Stocker steer yearlings sold readily at $4.50 to

$4.75 with slightly higher paid sparingly on choice offerings. Bulls were scarce but best beef individuals moved out at $4.25. Light weights brought $3.00 to $3.50.

The hog market opened at last week's high top of $9.50 for choice
175-250 pound truck offerings. Medium and heavyweights of quality

sold readily at $8.00 to $9.00. The demand for feeder pigs continued
active at $6.50 to $7.50.

The sheep market again went untested. No good lambs were received for market and wethers cashed at $2.25 to $2.75. Goats were draggy at $1.25 to $1.75, mostly to small butchers.

Receipts and quotations Monday
were: Cattle, 276 head; calves, 315
head; calves, common and rannies,

$2.50 @ 3.50; general spread of calves, $3.75 @ 5.00; better kinds to choice, $5.25 @ 6.25; common to medium grass steers, $3.00 @ 4.00;

HONDO LOSES A DOUBLE-HEADER.

Knippa's baseball team came to town here Sunday and took both ends of a double-header from the locals by scores of 1 to 0 and 8 to 4.

The first tilt, a tight affair, saw both hurlers doing a good job, Joe Davis of Knippa allowing eight hits, and Koch of Hondo giving up but six. Knippa scored the lone tally of the game in the first frame.

The second contest a seven-inning affair, saw Knippa forge ahead steadily and score one in the final just for good measure. Sadler, moundman for Hondo, led both teams in batting, getting three out of four.

THE TILLER OF THE SOIL.

Each morn at dawn he wends his way,
Returning in the dark;
He ploughs the fields the long, bright day,
To the music of the lark.

Each furrow turned, his heart must sing,
One furrow less to plough;
The heat of noon no rest will bring,
At dusk his head must bow.

The lark on high sings out his song,
The tiller stops to hear;
And tho' he toils the whole day long,
The song will reach his ear.

A NEW CHAPTER IN BANKING HISTORY

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation has ushered in a new era of security for funds deposited with insured banks up to and including $5,000 for each depositor.

All customers of this bank enjoy the benefits made possible by Deposit Insurance. It is provided in accordance with our unvarying policy of adopting all justified precautionary measures to safeguard the funds entrusted to our care.

HONDO STATE BANK

BORDER STATE LIFE

INSURANCE COMPANY

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS

Incorporated in 1907

R. E. Shackelford, President

This Company is licensed by the Department of Insurance of Texas. It operates on the periodic mutual plan, leaving out all high priced features found in old line policies such as Cash Values, Paid Up Insurance and so-on; all of these increase the cost, but do not increase the sum paid in case of death.

The rates charged are reasonable but adequate, taken as a whole, to pay all death losses and create a mortuary fund. Under the law, 60 per cent of the gross collections is deposited to the Mortuary Fund, and can be used only to pay death losses as they are incurred and for the protection of the Fund.

Death is an unpleasant thought, but never takes a Holiday. It visits thousands of homes annually. The grief can not be eliminated, but you can relieve the financial burden by taking a policy in the "Border State Life Insurance Company" at a cost of only a few pennies per day. Why not protect each member of your family with enough to take care of the funeral in case of death? Better to have each member of your family insured for as much as $200.00 than to have only one member of the family insured for $1000.00.

There is no joining fee; each member has a rate governed according to the age of the Applicant at entry; such rate will remain the same. Premiums may be paid monthly; or at a discount quarterly or annually. If you are in good health we invite you to join our organization. We are paying our claims promptly and in full, according to the terms of the policy.

is to establish a charge or term-payment account in a department store? But no matter how easily the credit is obtained, or how small the payments, they come due regularly and if not paid—well, the law just takes its course and the debtor suffers.

The people of the United States are just now waking up to the fact that they have been on a gigantic spending spree. Never did they use their public credit so freely. But the day of reckoning is here. The charge accounts are coming due and the payments will have to be made.

Just as the unwary customer is talked into spending more than he can afford by the super-selling ability of the expert clerk, so have an unwary people been talked into spending more than they can well afford to pay, by the silver tongues of the politicians.

In the latter case, however, the people thought they were going to be given something for nothing—that the billions of dollars handed out in the name of "relief" and "recovery" would be taken from somebody else's pocket.

But the dream has ended. The tax-gatherer's hand is going right down into John Jones' pocket to take out the money to pay the charge account, for the "gifts" to Jones.

A new tax-raising bill has been thrown into the lap of Congress, that will have a tremendous effect on the earnings, the savings and the estates of every citizen. For camouflage and publicity purposes, it is designated as a "share the wealth" or "soak the rich" tax program. The Portland Oregonian says:

"This is but the beginning . . . The government Santa Claus is about to be withdrawn. . . Gradually he is to become overshadowed by another figure. This one will appear to the taxpayer as he plays out his part, like a government shlyok. There is no other way.

"Good old Uncle Sam is going to make the rich pay and pay. Nothing is said about making other people pay. But that will come later. We are all going to pay—pay through the nose and pay till it hurts, in increased federal taxes down through the lower brackets. Our tax bill during the next generation is going to be a thing high, wide and handsome, and at the same time fearsome. It is not going to fall lightly anywhere. It is going to fall heavily on all who have incomes, in whatever brackets."

Charge accounts of the government (tax bills) become due just as do charge accounts of stores (private bills). There is no difference whatever in principle—but there is a great difference in fact, in that the government, if you fail to pay your tax bill, can use more harsh and ruinous methods on the individual to force payment than can the private store. There is no leniency shown by the tax collector. He collects your taxes, or he takes your property.—Industrial News Review.

THE SEEDS OF PROGRESS.

The only worthwhile progress comes from efforts of the individuals concerned.

The farmer is learning this truth. The much-heralded government farm relief program may not have collapsed—but it has certainly not justified the high hopes that were held out for it.

On the other hand, organized groups of farmers are showing agriculture what can be done through their own work, their own thought, their own tenacity.

During the depression real and permanent farm progress has been made—by farmer-owned farmer-controlled cooperative marketing associations.

These associations have gained in membership. They have made striking progress in trying to balance supply and demand, and in forwarding more scientific production methods. They have disseminated information that individual farmers were not in a position to obtain. Result: A start toward farm recovery.

It has long been said that self-help is best help. It is likewise the only kind of help that amounts to anything in the long run.—Industrial News Review.

THINGS ONE REMEMBERS.

By R. M. Hofer.

Chickens come home to roost! From four widely separated Southern communities vigorous protests have arisen against the loss of local tax revenues resulting from government acquisition of property and its consequent removal from local tax rolls.

When people clamor for "free political pork" (government ownership of an industry or land in their community), they forget that the only way the pork barrel can be filled in order to make them the gift, is through money drawn from their own hard-earned savings by taxation. The politicians "give" them nothing except what they first take away.

A Georgia mayor wants something done about loss of municipal revenue occasioned by two large tax-free PWA housing projects which supplant former tax-paying property.

One North Carolina county wants the government to compensate it for taxes lost on account of huge acreage withdrawn for a tax-exempt park project.

Another county in the same state has now lost taxes from 52,000 acres of land taken by the government for a waterfowl refuge and wants relief along with the birds.

Six Tennessee counties find a loss in their tax rolls of from 5 to 35 per cent of total assessed valuation, as the result of TVA purchases.

One Senator declares that public ownership of railroads, which some are advocating, and public ownership of utilities would deprive his state of nine million dollars a year tax revenues. "Where in God's world are they going to make it up?" he asks.

The entire program of government competing in business with its own citizens would be laughable if it were not so serious. The politicians get by promising the people something for nothing, and the people try to get something which they think somebody else will pay for. In reality the people pay for the whole works, including the government-owned tax-exempt enterprises which destroy their own highly taxed businesses and ultimately government income itself. If this isn't an endless circle of destruction, what is?

Unless the people wake up to the menace of government ownership of property and industry, they will find more of their savings taken to finance political "hen houses", than they will have left to build homes for themselves.

METHODIST CHURCH.

Shan M. Hull, Pastor.

The Young People's Camp of the Blue Bonnet Union, which was held at Camp Fawcett, July 22-27, came to a close last Saturday morning. From some standpoints, this was one of the most successful camps that we have ever attended. The camp was not what we had hoped for from a numerical standpoint; yet from the standpoint of the type of work done, and the spirit of cooperation that prevailed in the camp, it was a "howling success". The Young People of the Hondo Methodist Church wish to express publicly their appreciation and thanks to Mr. Jim Amberson for the kindness he showed them in taking them to and from the camp in his Ford V-8 truck. By the way, Mr. Amberson carried the Young People to the camp last summer, also. If all of our towns and churches had more men like "Jim", our Young People would have no trouble in getting to attend our District camps.

We are coming very rapidly to the close of another Conference year, there being just three more months left before Conference. We trust that we shall all make the very best of the possible of these next three months. The harvest is being gathered, and we are trusting that our people are going to get a reasonably good price for their products; and of course if they do, they will not forget their church obligations.

This coming Sunday morning will be our regular Communion Day; shall we not expect a goodly number present for the service? The service for this coming Sunday evening will be held at the Baptist Church, at 8 o'clock, with the Methodist Pastor bringing the message. We are having fine services in our union efforts these Sunday evenings. Give us a good hearing next Sunday, at both of the services.

"Come thou with us, we'll do thee good."

GONE TO THE MUSEUM.

Mr. J. Marvin Hunter, proprietor of Hunter's Frontier Times Museum of Bandera, was a visitor in Hondo yesterday and took back with him for exhibition in his Museum the Washington hand press upon which the old D'Hanis News and later The Star were printed.

The old press was brought to D'Hanis by J. M. McLeese when he started the paper in the late 1900's. After selling it, the paper changed hands several times, was suspended for a while and in the summer of 1914 was rejuvenated under the name of The Star. The editor of this paper bought it in the late summer or early autumn of 1914 and printed one side of The Star on it for nearly nine years. Some time in 1923, we quit using it, printing both sides of the paper in Hondo until it was discontinued the last of December 1923. Since shortly after that time, the dismantled press has accumulated dust in the editor's barn. It will from now on be an object of curiosity among the other ancient relics in the museum. It is probably the last G. Washington to see actual service in issuing a newspaper in Southwest Texas.

Last week we boasted of not being superstitious, but if we lose our luck we know that it will be because we let Mr. Hunter get away without our "rabbit foot", only in this case it was the front paw of probably the last bear killed in the Utopia-Leakey country. It was presented to our predecessor, Judge L. J. Brucks, when he edited The Herald and had been in our possession since October 1903.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED.

A lovely courtesy extended Miss Frankie Mae Cloudt, bride-elect of Jack Fusselman, was the shower and tea Monday afternoon, July 29, from 3:30 to 6:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. L. A. Mechler. Hostesses were Mesdames Horace Schweers, Jerry Smith, Emmett Kollman, Newell Woods and George R. Carle, and Misses Irene Mechler and Gladys Fusselman.

Receiving with the honoree were Mrs. L. A. Mechler, Mrs. Jack M. Fusselman and Miss Cloudt's mother, Mrs. F. E. Cloudt, of Rocksprings. Mrs. Emmett Kollman presided over the bride's book.

The living room was decorated with brightly colored zinnias. In the dining room, pink roses were used in decoration. The lace covered table had for an exquisite center arrangement a low bowl of the pink roses, flanked by lighted white tapers in crystal holders. Serving the refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and spiced tea were Misses Gladys Fusselman, Irene Mechler, Billy Fusselman and Roseina Taylor.

The honoree wore a becoming model of pink lace, with white accessories.

About fifty guests registered in the bride's book during the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wiede of Lockhart were the week-end guests of Mrs. Wiede's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Gaines.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By Edson R. Waite,

Community progress is synonymous with community effort.

Too many people regard with blasé indifference all but what effects their own personal comfort and convenience and give little thought to those factors that make them possible.

When business is lagging is the time to spend more money for advertising. Business men who advertise feel a depression much less than those who cut down expenses by cutting down advertising.

"While the desire to ride is instinctive in every person, the automobile business would not be what it is today had it not been for the tremendous glamour which has been built up around the pleasures of ownership of a motor car through automobile shows, millions of dollars worth of ADVERTISING, and automobiles enthusiastically presented directly to the prospect by the retail salesman," so says Roy H. Faulkner, president of the Auburn Automobile Company.

The surest way to get satisfactory results in any undertaking is to find the best method of doing the job and then get busy and do it.

The trade-at-home man is the one who gets the best of everything.

FUSSELMAN-CLOUDT.

A wedding of interest to a wide circle of friends was that of Miss Frankie Mae Cloudt and Jack Murphy Fusselman of Hondo, which took place last evening, August 1st, at 5 o'clock, in the Grove Avenue Church of Christ, San Antonio. Rev. Jesse P. Sewell, pastor, performed the ceremony. There were no attendants.

The bride was lovely in a navy blue triple sheer suit, with short fitted coat fashioned with a large white collar and white buttons, with which she wore a navy blue felt hat and dark blue accessories.

After a brief honeymoon in San Antonio Mr. and Mrs. Fusselman will reside in an apartment at the Fanny Carle residence in Hondo.

Miss Cloudt is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Cloudt of Rocksprings, Texas. She graduated in 1933 from the Rocksprings High School, later in the summer of the same year moving with her parents to Hondo. She has been employed as a stenographer for the Medina County Board of Re-Employment.

Jack is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack M. Fusselman of Hondo. He graduated with the class of 1930 from Hondo High School, and since that time has been employed by the Carle Confectionery in Hondo.

Among those who attended the wedding in San Antonio were Mr. and Mrs. Jack M. Fusselman, Mrs. Newell Woods and children, Misses Gladys Virginia and Billy Fusselman, Mrs. Ray Taylor and Miss Roseina Taylor, Misses Mary Ruth Wilson and Evelyn Barnes, all of Hondo, Miss Clarabelle Blackaller of Pearsall, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Cloudt, Mrs. Clara Kirkland, and Buster Cloudt, all of Rocksprings.

This paper joins the many friends of the young couple in extending congratulations and best wishes.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

We are living in a day when as never before the natural craving for news is being satisfied at every turn. It was said of the Athenians that they gathered about the market place with primarily one interest in mind: to hear something new. With modern means of communication this man can hear the news very soon after its occurrence.

The Christian is interested in other news also. He does not only wish to know what man has been doing, but also what man is. He deems it of great importance to look into the inner man and find out the underlying motives for good or bad behavior. Scripture alone reveals to us this all-important truth. In the words of St. Paul to the Ephesians, chapter 4, we hear: "That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness."

Services at St. Paul's next Sunday in English at 9:30; Sunday school and Bible class at 8:30.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet on Wednesday, August 7, at 2:30 with Mrs. Felix Batot as hostess. She has invited the Aid to meet her at the Medina River in Castreville. We surely do all wish to be present.

QUIHI NOTES.

Then Abraham fell on his face and laughed. Gen. 17: 17.

"A laugh a day keeps the doctor away." Granted, if the patient is well otherwise. And if that advisory board can give us a good daily cause for a laugh, the recipe is complete. Can they? No doubt, "there is a time to weep and a time to laugh", but much of human laughter is misplaced, causeless, insincere, artificial, pose. What a difference between the true ring of childish merriment and the grunting grimace of the skeptic! And what all is covered up from the giggle to the "horse-laugh" and whatever shade of laughter that might lie between the two. Often far away from the expression of real joy, that laugh may express pain, wrath, doubt, derision, defiance, challenge, revenge, anything but rejoicing. It may, it may not, be a true indicator of the heart's fair weather chart. What might Abrahams' laugh stand for? Out of sheer grace the Lord had given him promise after promise, one greater than the other, loading his faith to the limit, to the breaking point, as it were, with seemingly impossible things. He lies prostrate while he laughs. It spells submission, not unbelief. He envisions those things promised, he is overcome with the anticipation, the realization of them. What "eyes have not seen and ears have not heard", things far beyond his expectation and hope, make his heart rejoice. The same is in store for us, and did such a laugh ever brighten our face?

The fodder gathering is still going on in this section. And what splendid loads are hauled in, to replenish the vacancies made during the dry years. The rainy spells increased concentration and effort while they threatened and gave a welcome recess for these overworked muscles and allowed to make up for lost sleep. There was damage and some loss here and there, but in general it was weather "made to order" and we hope the Lord is able to discover sincere thankfulness in the hearts of the harvesters.

The teachers of the Sunday school will meet next Friday. Your work goes on uninterrupted and unfringed, in spite of war clouds, lobbying investigations, political scheming, economic experiments, clashes here and shiftings there. It may be activity on a small scale only and involving little of monetary considerations—the main cause of all the worldly turmoil—but you are concerned with immortal souls and in the estimate of God these amount to more than the millions and billions that are supposed to cure human misery and secure contentment and peace. So far these utterly failed; you are apt to have better success, modest as it might be.

Announcements for August the 4th: German service at 10; Sunday school and Bible classes at 9; evening service at 8. Let us attend these services. If we deny Him, he also will deny us. II Thes. 2:12.

SO MUCH FOR SO LITTLE.

FARMING is in a position to do an unusually good turn for its friends by furnishing them both FARMING and The Pathfinder a full year for the bargain price of only $1.00. The Pathfinder is America's most appreciated weekly magazine, published at the Nation's Capital, for all the nation. It deals with politics, government, science, industry, world events and every subject that intelligent people want to know about. It is not partisan. It never boosts favored individuals or pet doctrines. In The Pathfinder you get much interesting information—many pertinent facts that are seldom published elsewhere. You and your whole family, young and old, will like The Pathfinder, as millions of others do. FARMING and The Pathfinder make a splendid team; each one supplements the other to give you a COMPLETE reading service. You need both of them. Don't miss this chance.

MURDER MYSTERY BANK NIGHT FEATURE.

A cast of familiar screen names, including Conway Tearle, Boots Mallory and Hardie Albright, is found in the suspenseful mystery melodrama, "Sing Sing Nights", which is the feature attraction at the Colonial Theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

The plot concerns three doomed men in Sing Sing death cell, each of whom confessed murdering the same man. A scientist uses his lie-detecting machine on each man in turn to determine his veracity as he recites the events leading up to the killing. The flash-backs take you to South America, China and an American city.

SACRIFICE SALE.

A small cash payment for the owner's equity and the assumption of certain long-time indebtedness secure possession of some of the best farm lands in Medina County and valuable town property in Hondo with long time to pay out. No curiosity seekers wanted, but if looking for good property as an investment or for farm or business location ask us about it.

FLETCHER DAVIS,

Being News, Views and Reviews

By the
MANAGING EDITOR.

One of the causes contributing largely to the evil effects of the depression is the reluctance with which people meet their financial obligations. For instance, if you have a dollar in your pocket and keep it there (or worse, "bolw it in" needlessly) instead of paying the man you owe the dollar your act stops him from paying what he owes, and the whole stream of business dries up and credit is endangered, insofar as that dollar is concerned. On the other hand, if you pay the man you owe, he can pay the one he owes, etc., on in an endless cycle that may soon or late bring it back to you in payment of a debt someone owes you or to purchase something you have to sell. In the end, you would have your dollar back, a lot of business would have been done, a load of debt would have been lifted, and a lot of people made happy. If you want to try the experiment and know yourself indebted to the M. E. we are in a most receptive mood.

In this complex life we live, man finds himself owing many obligations to many different interests. For instance, there is a duty a man owes as a good citizen to his country and there is a duty he owes as a good man to his church. These duties never conflict unless the one oversteps its bounds and trespasses upon the rights of the other. As a good citizen the duty of exercising ones own judgment and acting according to the dictates of his own conscience and without dictation from any one in the exercise of his right of sovereignty is imperative. In arriving at a correct and rational judgment before acting, it is his right to solicit and accept the counsel of whomsoever he chooses to consult. It is any man's right to offer his counsel unsolicited. But beyond that no man has a right to go. We hold no brief for the clergy, but we feel sure that few among them would so far forget as to confuse his authority to command obedience in spiritual things with the authority to demand obedience in political matters—would want to be understood as commanding where only entitled to counsel. The best intentioned teachers fail when misunderstood. A right understanding by the layman of the true attitude of his church teachers in this respect would go far towards laying much of the prejudice and false accusation from which the church suffers in these troublous times of prejudice and malevolent propaganda.

THE ISSUE OF FREEDOM.

A recent editorial in Liberty said: "Our pioneer ancestors were determined to be free men. They wanted the privilege of guiding their own destiny, of forming their own government, of living their own lives in accordance with the dictates of their conscience and intelligence. And they valued their citizenship, the Constitutional rights delegated to them. As citizens they were far better informed about their government than we are today. We were born into it. It has come to us through inheritance. And like the idle shiftless sons of rich men, having made no sacrifices for our liberties, we value them lightly. And perhaps much of the freedom we now enjoy may be lost before we awaken to the dangers that now confront us."

Too many Americans pay no attention to government. They accept the proposal and passage of laws that are opposed to both the letter and spirit of the Constitution without complaint. They watch the growth of political bureaucracy, and the centralization of political power, without the slightest regard as to what that may do to our institutions.

Recent decisions of the Supreme Court in the NRA and other cases have, it is to be hoped, helped to focus a measure of public attention on the issue of freedom versus political dictatorship. If America is to be maintained as a free democracy, the home of free men, every citizen must do his part to keep it so. He must realize that there can be no temporizing with those who would change our system of government—even as there can be no compromise between individualism and socialism, communism or fascism.—Industrial News Review.

Hints for Motorists

By C. R. Strouse

THE following method usually works when a wheel you want to remove sticks so badly that the ordinary wheel-pulling methods fail. Jack up the corresponding wheel on the opposite side of the car. Unscrew the hub nut of the wheel you want to remove so as to bring the nut flush with the threaded end of the axle. Then strike the axle end a number of sharp blows with a heavy hammer. The combined pressure and jarring will almost always do the trick.

To straighten out dents in the body that can't easily be gotten at from inside, remove the enamel from the damaged area, sandpaper, and apply a light coating of solder. Bend a strong wire at right angles and solder one side of the angle to the center of the dent. Form the free end of the wire into a hook and insert a bar to act as a handle or lever. Pulling on this or using it as a lever will usually pull out the dent. Touch up with enamel after removing solder with a blowtorch.

BEANS Set New Week-End Motif

SATURDAY night baked-beans, an institution as old as the ancestral bean pot for which Bostonians are famous, have become a week-end favorite—not only in Boston but all over the country.

Entertaining over the week-end has become a simple matter in homes where cupboard are well-stocked with canned beans and recipes such as these.

Beans in Summer Mode

Beans and Asparagus Salad: Drain the contents of a No. 2 can of all-green asparagus, one cup of canned lima beans and the contents of one No. 1 can of stringless beans. Peel two firm ripe tomatoes and slice one bunch of radishes. Marinate all of the vegetables separately in French dressing. Line a large salad bowl with lettuce and stand the asparagus tips up around the outside. Toss the rest of the vegetables lightly together and pile in the middle. Serve with mayonnaise. This serves eight persons.

Lima Beans with Shrimp Cover: Drain the contents of one No. 2 can of lima beans and turn into a shallow buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Drain the contents of one 5½-ounce can of shrimps, remove the viscera and spread over the beans. Add two tablespoons of cream. Cover lightly with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven until brown on top. This serves four persons.

Buttered Beans: Heat the contents of one 10½-ounce can of stringless beans in their liquor for about five minutes. Add salt, pepper and one and one-half tablespoons butter. Serves four persons.

Mr. O. H. Miller, local distributor for the McCormick-Deering Farm implements and machinery, reports good business in that line despite the depression. He placed several farm tractors during the season just passed. The McCormick-Deering line is one of high quality and the farmer who invests in their equipment receives full value for his money.

Dr. H. J. Meyer was taken seriously ill during the night Tuesday evening and for a while suffered intense pain. Medical aid was summoned and on advice of his physicians he was taken to San Antonio Wednesday morning. After an X-Ray examination at the hospital, it was decided that he should remain there for observation until further developments. At last report, his sufferings had been somewhat relieved but the presence of a temperature showed that there was still an organic derangement.

In a three month's campaign ending March 30, Jasper county farmer-immunized 4000 pigs against hog cholera and checked a disease that had been raging in approximately 10 communities for six months. Seventeen practical farmers trained in the work participated in this campaign. According to reliable estimates of farmers, 3500 pigs died with the disease before it was brought under control. The campaign was conducted in connection with the farm meat supply program, the purpose of which is to insure an adequate meat supply for every farm home.

Middle-West Not Yet a Wilderness

IN spite of the warning by H. H. Bennett, director of soil erosion for the United States Department of the Interior, that great areas in the dust storm belt of the west may be turned into deserts, and the prediction of Rexford G. Tagwell, Under-Secretary of Agriculture, that unless the Administration's land program were carried out the Middle West would become as barren as the interior of China, the middle western farmers do not seem to have taken alarm.

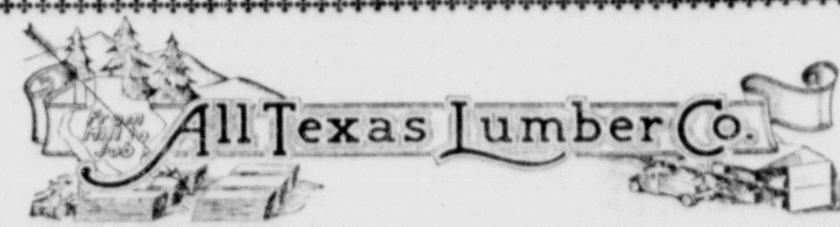

When the latter made his meaning clear by telling an imaginary story of an explorer of 2235 A.D. who finds the Mississippi Valley a dusty, uninhabited desert, William Allen White, the Kansas philosopher, expressed the farmers' state of mind when he said: "Prophecy is always a major blunder in politics and it is even a greater blunder to match futurity with folly. So let Tagwell have it his own way—for neither of us will be here to laugh at the other's blunders."

Corn in Great Demand

Because of its importance as an energy food, and the danger of a repetition of the damage wrought by drought to last year's crops, corn is now in great demand. Last year's plentiful pack of corn will make it possible, however, for housewives to stock up so that they will have an adequate supply on hand.

Canned corn can be used in a variety of ways besides being served as a vegetable. It makes very delicious corn fritters and the cream-style corn is well adapted to corn puddings, to soups and to many kinds of corn breads. Try these:

Corn Cakes: Beat two eggs well, add one-half cup sour milk, one-fourth teaspoon soda and one cup canned corn. Sift together one cup flour, one-half teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking powder, and add. Add one tablespoon melted butter. Fry in small cakes on a hot griddle. Serve with pork sausage and gravy or with maple syrup.

Life's opportunities are often lost through lack of knowledge of how to use them!

Waste is the worst enemy of success. Now is the harvest season and nothing of food or feed value should be allowed to waste where it is possible to save it.

With the government tending constantly more and more towards socialism in its dealings with the masses and more subservient to the masters of finance it behooves everyone to beware of whither we are drifting.

The Utopian dream of ending the depression and taking everybody off the dole by July 1st with $4,800,000,000.00 of borrowed money seems to be bogged down. There are said to be more unemployed people today than at any time since the depression set in.

With this issue of FARMING the paper enters its XIVth volume. There has been a terrible mortality among farm papers during the past five years but, thanks to its friends, FARMING still goes on. Won't you be of that number who are helping us carry on?

Recovery must be founded on confidence and must grow on confidence, for without confidence capital will not venture and without new capital invested business will not expand. There is plenty of capital available, but the confidence is lacking. The succession of many experimental devices to recapture prosperity confuses and frightens the business man.—Senator Byrd of Virginia.

Farm harvests are at hand now in many sections of the country and money should become easier with our friends wherever there is something to sell. Don't forget that it takes the money received from subscribers to maintain an independent farm paper like FARMING. Your prompt renewal will come at an opportune time. Won't you use the blank on the second page and help us extend our circulation?

Frozen credit sources having stopped the normal flow of money through the channels of business and industry, thus stopping their usual functioning and throwing millions of workers out of employment, the natural common sense method of relief would be to remove the cause by breaking the jam and permitting the free flow of credit. The measures now pending before Congress proposing to refinance farm mortgages and pay the soldier bonus with government currency would start that flow and end the depression. But it would break up the deep-laid schemes of the international money manipulators. Don't depend too much on its happening.

Sophomoric discussions of the evils of liquor of the "lips-that-touch-liquor-shall-never-touch mine" brand should have no place in the present campaign to repeal the Texas prohibition amendment. Whether there be those who could be so obtuse as to deny the evils inherent in the nature of liquor, surely none are so dumb as to hold that the kind of prohibition we have has taken them out. If the anti's claim that the repeal amendment will prevent the "open" saloon from coming back is too transparent a fabrication to be even a joke, it should be equally apparent that we have never been without it and never will be under the present prohibition regime. It, therefore, seems to us that any change that holds a hope of ending a system wherein the fellow with a pull waxes rich racketeering while the friendless devil goes to the pen for possessing a little homebrew should enlist the support of all right thinking people.

THE EDITOR'S TURN-ROW

THAT INHERITANCE TAX.

It is true, tho' most folks do not realize it, that no man has a right to say what shall be done with his wealth after he is dead. A dead man can own nothing. The passing on of his property by will is a privilege granted by statute, and not a fundamental right. The State, which has granted the privilege of leaving wealth to one's descendants, has a perfect right to revoke that right at any time. There is, therefore, no question of elemental rights involved in any proposal to tax inheritance up to as high as 100 per cent. The only question of consequence is one of public policy.—Lockhart Post-Register.

Of all the strange doctrine that is part and parcel of the New Deal law and philosophy this is the strangest yet!

To provide for one's offspring is a primal instinct of all animal life.

Two striking examples are the dirt-dauber and the tumble-bug, neither of which lives to enjoy the gratitude of the progeny for which they provide so zealously.

Not to strive to leave a heritage to his children is to be less imbued with love for his own than the bugs.

Nature or nature's god having implanted this impulse in the animal nature of man, it becomes his DUTY to obey the impulse—and all normal creatures do!

And every duty that carries with it an inherent obligation to perform carries with it the FUNDAMENTAL RIGHT to all it implies.

What it is man's duty and right by nature to do it is no man's right to say him nay; he can not rightfully alienate himself from its performance.

So much for man's natural rights,

which because they are natural are "elemental", and from them he cannot be rightfully divested.

Holy Writ, the exponent of Divine law, says:

"But if any provide not for his own, and specially for those of his own house, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel."

What are we to understand by "providing for his own"?

Elsewhere the scriptures admonish us to "do whatever our hand findeth to do with all our might".

We take it from this that if it is in accordance with Divine law that man feed the infant, that it may live and grow, likewise he should train and educate the child that it may be equipped to meet the issues of life.

If right that man should train the youth, it is likewise right, if he can, to also equip him with material means as well.

This means his right to will and devise that which is his own to whomsoever he chooses as "his own".

He who does less does not do "with all his might".

Natural law and Divine law being on the side of the deviser, who shall gainsay or dispute his rights?

Surely not a man-made government which, by its very nature, has no inherent right to anything and can rightfully exercise no function save that first delegated to it by the "consent of the governed".

Strange doctrine indeed that a creature of man's own creating must delegate to man a "privilege" to dispose of what his own knowledge, skill and industry has created.

We believe the better reasoning is that instead of the government having prior claim on man's production and our inheritance laws being a gratuitous privilege granted him, the law is a recognition of man's elemental rights and is a mere means provided for simplifying the devising of a man's property.

To reason otherwise is to assume that government, instead of being a social compact entered into by mutual consent for man's convenience, and functions normally and rightly only when it is man's servant, government is a Frankenstein owning and controlling man and his substance in both life and death.

A strange concept of government is this in a country that is supposed to have long ago repudiated the divine right of kings and the fetish that man, instead of being a sovereign in his own right, is himself, with all he possesses, a chattel of his king.

From a humanitarian standpoint, for the hand of the tax-taker to rob the dying pillow of the consolation of knowing that one's loved ones have been safely cared for is to put to shame the ghouls that at least wait until death has ended all suffering before violating the dead.

GIVE INDUSTRY A FAIR CHANCE

"The power of government to improve conditions is not a drop in the bucket compared to the enormous prosperity-making capacity that lies in the natural tendency of business and industry to make better products at lower cost, to distribute them widely, and in the process to create more jobs and higher wages," said Ernest T. Weir, Chairman of the National Steel Corporation, recently. "This natural capacity has been impotent recently because of the fear and uncertainty engendered among business men by governmental interference."

"It is an often expressed belief that government can neither create nor prevent recovery—but it can retard it for a discouragingly long time. By stifling investments with taxation, by destroying confidence through bureaucratic domination, and by standing in the way of industrial expansion through threats of more and increasingly stringent regimentation of the nation's productive machinery, politics can become prosperity's worst enemy."

"Give industry a fair chance, and it will do its part to bring back good times."

Thus speaks the Industrial News Review.

How can industry be given "a fair chance"?

Not by the New Deal policy of taxing all the profit out of it to pay the enormous expense of government regimentation of said industry.

Not by taxing it to pay interest on borrowed money which the government by borrowing takes out of investment in industry and at the same time exempts both such money and the income derived from such investment from taxation.

Not by forcing industry to try to operate at more expense for fewer hours work and lessened output while paying taxes to dole able-bodied men in idleness.

That way lies a deeper bog of depression and industrial ruin.

Relief lies in the opposite course. Less governmental interference, less government expense, less taxation, no more borrowing and no more interest to pay.

No more farming out of the government's credit to Shylocks, but issuing it in circulating notes direct to industry.

This last point is the vital one.

We must unite on its accomplishment before the others—or any other efforts—are going to bring real and permanent relief.

How much longer are we going to dodge the issue and quarrel over every other possible difference of opinion or waste our means and energy in foolish experiments?

"Divided we shall fail" continued victims to the money-controlling oligarchy that is now our financial and political master.

—That he is the bravest who tries always to do the right?

—That he achieves most who the nearest approaches right living?

—That there would be no evil if all always knew and did the right?

—That following the right is the surest way of avoiding getting left?

—That to do the right is the only way to avoid being wrong?

AUGUST DAWN.

Oh, there's a magic gladness in a dawning August morn,

And there's a wonderful courage in its ripening corn;

For completeness reigns in splendor and there's joy for the soul

Where this our gift of bread is not another's grudging dole!

THE DROUTH.

The plowman held his engine to a line.
The land stretched back beneath a copper sun
Behind his disk; that stirred the long seed-beds
Still crunching, crumbling, crumbling, still he plows
The harsh dry earth, in hopes it yet might rain—

His tired eyes raise to a distant sight,
Mirage like cooling lakes, that shimmer in the sun.
What mockery! mockery in dancing glee!
Discouragement now settled like a pall
Within a father's breast, that could no longer hold
The gathered cloud of ominous despair—
Nor yet had he discovered shapen clouds,
That soared and dipped to earth and up again
While on they came with sounds of deafening roar,
With rain, and hail, in sheets that plowed the ground.
In torrents came the drenching rain to fill
The thirsty earth with drink to satisfy—

Though wheat was dried and gone—there yet was time,
For fallow ground to yield abundant feed,
And bring a thankfulness that all is well
And then forget—the drouth—and think ahead.
—ADDIEBELLE S. PORTER.

O FOR WORLD PEACE.

Long years I remained optimistic, imagining speedy surcease
From strife, but my vision grows fainter—each milestone dims hope of World Peace.
For armies and navies are growing, more soldiers at drill is the cry,
Warships are maneuvering daily, flying squadrons appear in the sky.
With armaments every land bristles, disputes and fierce tumults abound,
Loud rumblings of cannon re-echo, defense plans are heard the world round.
Chemists are inventing new poisons to wipe out whole armies at will,
Political systems are clashing—Is there no way this madness to still?
Must we forfeit home, love and honor for selfish, unscrupulous gain?
Our sons sacrifice, aye, and daughters to murderous descendants of Cain?
God grant time will come when proud Nations their wars for supremacy cease.
And the whole world joining in the glad anthem, "Good will to all men, on earth, Peace."
—ELLIE WILCOX BURT.

PORTRAIT.

Why
As he breaks the earth
And so carefully buries the seed—
Oh, why
Does he stand so quietly
Looking on the thing
He has just done—?
Or is it fear—
Is he praying
Fear of the earth
And the great God—
Or is it fear
Of his own autumn?

THE MUSES' GARDEN

HARVESTERS.

O, meadow-lark, I heard your call this morning . . .
Across the burdened fields it challenged me.
Three golden notes of unremembered music.
Three silvery strands of summer's tapestry
And I must rise and to my own accounting—
To sheaves of wheat and shocks of golden corn,
A measure for a measure at the harvest . . .
(Three blasts upon a honey-colored horn)

We are the harvesters: the earth's sweet bounty
Is ours by right of virtue. We incline
To simple runes that follow field and furrow,
Who eat her bread and drink her mellow wine.

—GEORGIA C. BADER.

RETURN.

Some flitting fancies of the life he'd known—
The heavy labor when the hay was mown,
The rambling rounded tunnels of the mole,
The blasted oak, that stood upon the knoll
Beside the brook, the bluejay's raucous note,
The distant drawling bleating of a goat,
The sweating horses straining at the goad
To drag through mud the wagon's heavy load,
The faint and earthy odor of the loam,
These rambling recollections drew him home.

—R. L. JENKINS.

ASSERVATION.

Immutable as the changeless years
That roll from the rim of Time,
My life goes on and it appears
My love grows more sublime.
Eternities have swung us past
The lesion of the Now,
So Love tries not to feel abashed
Because you broke your vow.
For you'll follow my pennon, waving high . . .
Regardless of where it gleams,
And tho' you smother your budding sigh,
I'll come unto you, in dreams!
—FLOZARI ROCKWOOD.

THREE CINQUAINS.

SONG IN THE WOODS.

Hear it?
A wee bird's song
Caught up by the Wind who Flung silver notes about for my Delight.

POND LILIES.

Lilies
Yellow and white
By falling rain caressed
Make my failing spirits eager Again!

WE GO SINGING.

Summer
And I again
Go with light steps running
And our hearts sorrow though we go Singing!

—MARY OCTAVIA DAVIS.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

The Farmer's Wife does many deeds
Like cooking meals and planting seeds;
She launders clothes, finds time to sew
And drives to town in her auto
When she has finished pulling weeds.

She tends the cows and poultry breeds,
Whose products buy the household needs;
She keeps alert, and you should know
The Farmers' Wife.

She goes to clubs and there proceeds
To give her views on modern creeds;
She reads good books, and then also
Is entertained by radio;
No other human sphere exceeds
The Farmer's Wife.

—IDA MINCUS CLAY.

WHY?

A dew drop shining in the light
And quivering like a bird in flight,
Reminds me of my hungry heart
That sends out sparks from Cupid's dart,

Of love that goes in search of you,
Still hoping that you might be true,
The arrows finding straight their mark

As gayly as a morning lark.
And as my eyes grow strangely dim
My heart intones a soundless hymn;
A song of triumph, chant of love,
While flying comes a trembling dove. . .

Above the world, beneath the sky
I sing my hymn—can you guess why?
—ELIZABETH GILES WINN.

A PARODY.

Franklin D. Roosevelt (May his tribe decrease!)
Awoke one night from a false dream of peace,
And saw within the walls of his room,
Making the air heavy and dark with gloom,
A Court writing in a book of gold;
Exceeding power had made Roosevelt bold,
And to the Court in the room he softly said:
"What writest thou?" The Court raised its head,
And with a look caused by sincere grief,
Answered, "The death of your NRA, my Chief."
"And am I not to retain my power?" said Franklin. "Not so"
Replied the august Court. Roosevelt speaking more low,
But sternly still; said, "I pray thee, then
Write me as one who loves his rich fellow-men."
The Court arose and vanished to return next night,
When it came again in a spirit of delight,
And showed the names whom love of wealth had blessed,
And, lo! Roosevelt's name led all the rest.

—L. A. SEYMOUR.

THE MODERN DIVES.

Ah! how many struggling souls are hedged about
By bars of circumstance, controlled by fear and doubt,
They feel the lash and sting of want's harsh cruel power,
To crush their brightest dreams before they bud and flower;
Yes, sacrificed by greed upon altars of gold,
Quite often by their fellow men they're bought and sold
To monster Mammon, ruler of the earth supreme:—
Among the humble folks he loves to plot and scheme,
He, Dives, drives a Juggernaut as on he goes
And listens not to helpless ones, nor heeds their woes.

In vain the chain-bound masses struggle to be free,
They rise and fall again in hopeless poverty,
For greed and selfishness are rulers here today.
Lo, Dives dines and he is clothed in fine array;
He rules with mighty hand the earth the sky, the sea,
And daily quaffs the life-blood of humanity.
Unheeded, Lazarus, the broken beggar lies
With plaint that reaches far above the vaulted skies.
O Dives, Dives, your time will come! Relent!
For God will hear the pauper's cry; Repent! Repent!
—JESSICA MOORHEAD YOUNG.

THE LAST MILE.

Before I travel the last mile,
Wrinkled, old and very gray,
May a message be brought to me—
For that only let me stay!
That the Bible has been put back
In schools of the present day—
No matter how high school-buildings tower!
If children learn to pray.

One of my fondest memories
Comes to me, as now I pray;
It's of the Bible in the school
When I was young and gay:

In the little old-fashioned schoolhouse
By the crossed-roads way;
And Bible-reading by scholars
Each morning of the day.

Little did we realize then
That in our minds would oft stray
This scene in vividness so clear,—
Like a sunbeam's bright ray—

When we grew of age to look back
And in Memory's hall lay,
With tender care and loving glance,
Thoughts of that good old way.
—ELOIS COOPER FOWLER.

PROPOSAL SCIENTIFIC.

If your little atoms
Like my little atoms
We ought to get synthesized
And live life molecular,
Scientific, not secular. . .
Just smile if the folk criticized.

If your chemic processes
Suits my chemic process,
Yours, properly polarized,
If not too particular
Bout matters curricular,
We two could get solarized.
—SAND DUNE SAGE.

LASTING.

I embroidered on fine linen,
A flower which stood for thought;
And in painstaking stitches,
A lovely pansy was wrought.
I wrote my thoughts—a poem,
Fashioned with care each phrase,
Which will the world remember;
My flower or poem praise?

THE BAPTIST A. B. C.

Kind friend please pay attention, to
what I have to say,
I am going to recite a little poem, I
composed the other day,
Just wait and I will tell you what it's going to be,
The name of this peculiar poem, is
the Baptist A. B. C.

A is for any one, who is not afraid
to die,
B is for the blood, we mean to keep
it high,
C stands for Christ, Who saves our
souls from hell,
D is for the Devil, that one you all
know well.
E is for the enemy who tries us to
upset,
F is for the fountain, into it you
must get,
G is for the Gospel, we give it very
plain,
H is for heaven, come jump aboard
the train.

I stands for ignorance, in every town
it's seen,
J stands for Jesus, who did us all
redeem,
K is for the Kingdom, He promised
unto thee,
L is for the load of sin, from it you
must be free.

M is for the mist, that hangs before
your eyes,
N is for the numbers, who've had a
great surprise,
O just shows eternity, because it has
no end,
P is for the promises, we mean them
to defend.

Q is for the queer folk, who say there
is no hell,
R is for the right folk, who know
that all is well,
S stands for sinners, who are going
about,
T is for the blessed truth, we often
sing and shout.

U stands for unity, we have it in our
band,
V stands for vanity, and that will
never stand,
W stands for William, a chap that's
saved from hell,
X forms a cross, where you may be
saved as well.

Y stands for you, and I hope you all
know,
Z is for the zig-zag road, that leads
to pain and woe,
& stands for nothing, what ever that
may be,
But I hope you've found nothing
wrong with the Baptist A. B. C.

molasses for the folks. He has a portable cane mill which is being moved to any place where cane is ready to be made into syrup.

Broom corn threshing is still going
on. The stuff is very light this year and with low prices and such a tremendous loss by wet season and overflow, the farmers are not making a great deal of money out of the crop.

and family back with him.

Mr. Edgar Muenink and sister,
Elna, spent the week-end at home.

SAN ANTONIO LIVESTOCK.

Monday, July 29th.

Increased activity in the cattle division marked the opening Monday
of the San Antonio livestock market.
Supplies were liberal and price levels
held steady to slightly higher in spots.
Best grass calves and light yearlings
were active at $6.00 to $6.25, or
slightly higher than last week's close.
Heavy yearlings and butcher cows
moved more easily but with no appreciable advance in rates. Canners
and cutters cashed readily at $1.50
to $2.75. Best butcher cows moved out at $4.00 to $4.50. Stocker steer yearlings sold readily at $4.50 to $4.75 with slightly higher paid sparingly on choice offerings. Bulls were scarce but best beef individuals moved out at $4.25. Light weights
brought $3.00 to $3.50.

The hog market opened at last week's high top of $9.50 for choice
175-250 pound truck offerings. Medium and heavyweights of quality
sold readily at $8.00 to $9.00. The demand for feeder pigs continued
active at $6.50 to $7.50.

The sheep market again went untested. No good lambs were received for market and wethers cashed at $2.25 to $2.75. Goats were draggy at $1.25 to $1.75, mostly to small butchers.

Receipts and quotations Monday
were: Cattle, 276 head; calves, 315
head; calves, common and rannies,
$2.50 @ 3.50; general spread of calves, $3.75 @ 5.00; better kinds to

You're The Loser

WHEN you allow Headache, Neuralgia, Muscular, Rheumatic, Sciatic or Periodic Pains to keep you from work or pleasure.
You can't go places and do things when you are suffering—and the work or good times won't wait for you.

Why allow Pain to rob you of Health, Friends, Happiness, Money?

DR. MILES ANTI-PAIN PILLS have been used for the relief of pain for more than forty years. They taste good, act quickly, do not upset the stomach, nor cause constipation, leave no dull, depressed feeling.

Thousands have used them for twenty, thirty,
forty years, and still find that nothing else
relieves pain so promptly and effectively.

Why don't you try them? Once you know how pleasant they are to take, how quickly and effectively they relieve, you won't want to go back to disagreeable, slow acting medicines.

You too may find quick relief. Why wait forty minutes for relief when Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills will relieve you in ten to twenty minutes?

As a household remedy I have never found anything that equalled Dr.
Miles Anti-Pain Pills. Mrs. Silas D. Keller, Penfield, Pa.

I never found anything that was so good to stop pain as Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills. I have told many about them and I find they are all using them. Mrs. Martha Lacy, Davenport, Iowa

I have been using Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills for years. I keep them on hand all the time. I can certainly recommend them for pain.

Miss Audra Seybold, 2417 W. 2nd St., Dayton, Ohio

Your Anti-Pain Pills have been a wonderful help to me. I have used them for three years and always keep them on hand. Mrs. E. Pierce, Lapwai, Idaho

I have used quite a lot of Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills. They are fine pills to stop pain.

HONDO LOSES A DOUBLE-HEADER.

Knippa's baseball team came to town here Sunday and took both ends of a double-header from the locals by scores of 1 to 0 and 8 to 4.

The first tilt, a tight affair, saw both hurlers doing a good job. Joe Davis of Knippa allowing eight hits, and Koch of Hondo giving up but six. Knippa scored the lone tally of the game in the first frame.

The second contest a seven-inning affair, saw Knippa forge ahead steadily and score one in the final just for good measure. Sadler, moundman for Hondo, led both teams in batting, getting three out of four.

THE TILLER OF THE SOIL.
* Each morn at dawn he wends his way,
* Returning in the dark;
* He ploughs the fields the long, bright day,
* To the music of the lark.
* Each furrow turned, his heart must sing,
* One furrow less to plough;
* The heat of noon no rest will bring,
* At dusk his head must bow.
* The lark on high sings out his song,
* And tho' he toils the whole day long,
* The song will reach his ear.

A NEW CHAPTER IN BANKING HISTORY
The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation has ushered in a new era of security for funds deposited with insured banks up to and including $5,000 for each depositor.

BORDER STATE LIFE
INSURANCE COMPANY
SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS
Incorporated in 1907
R. E. Shackelford, President

This Company is licensed by the Department of Insurance of Texas. It operates on the periodic mutual plan, leaving out all high priced features found in old line policies such as Cash Values, Paid Up Insurance and so-on; all of these increase the cost, but do not increase the sum paid in case of death.
The rates charged are reasonable but adequate, taken as a whole, to pay all death losses and create a mortuary fund. Under the law, 60 per cent of the gross collections is deposited to the Mortuary Fund, and can be used only to pay death losses as they are incurred and for the protection of the Fund.
Death is an unpleasant thought, but never takes a Holiday. It visits thousands of homes annually. The grief can not be eliminated, but you can relieve the financial burden by taking a policy in the "Border State Life Insurance Company" at a cost of only a few pennies per day. Why not protect each member of your family with enough to take care of the funeral in case of death? Better to have each member of your family insured for as much as $200.00 than to have only one member of the family insured for $1000.00.
There is no joining fee; each member has a rate governed according to the age of the Applicant at entry; such rate will remain the same. Premiums may be paid monthly; or at a discount quarterly or annually. If you are in good health we invite you to join our organization. We are paying our claims promptly and in full, according to the terms of the policy.

is to establish a charge or term-payment account in a department store? But no matter how easily the credit is obtained, or how small the payments, they come due regularly and if not paid—well, the law just takes its course and the debtor suffers.

The people of the United States are just now waking up to the fact that they have been on a gigantic spending spree. Never did they use their public credit so freely. But the day of reckoning is here. The charge accounts are coming due and the payments will have to be made.

Just as the unwary customer is talked into spending more than he can afford by the super-selling ability of the expert clerk, so have an unwary people been talked into spending more than they can well afford to pay, by the silver tongues of the politicians.

In the latter case, however, the people thought they were going to be given something for nothing—that the billions of dollars handed out in the name of "relief" and "recovery" would be taken from somebody else's pocket.

But the dream has ended. The tax-gatherer's hand is going right down into John Jones' pocket to take out the money to pay the charge account, for the "gifts" to Jones.

A new tax-raising bill has been thrown into the lap of Congress, that will have a tremendous effect on the earnings, the savings and the estates of every citizen. For camouflage and publicity purposes, it is designated as a "share the wealth" or "soak the rich" tax program. The Portland Oregonian says:

"This is but the beginning. . . The government Santa Claus is about to be withdrawn. . . Gradually he is to become overshadowed by another figure. This one will appear to the taxpayer ere he plays out his part, like a government Shylock. There is no other way.

"Good old Uncle Sam is going to make the rich pay and pay. Nothing is said about making other people pay. But that will come later. We are all going to pay—pay through the nose and pay till it hurts, in increased federal taxes down through the lower brackets. Our tax bill during the next generation is going to be a thing high, wide and handsome, and at the same time fearsome. It is not going to fall lightly anywhere. It is going to fall heavily on all who have incomes, in whatever brackets."

Charge accounts of the government (tax bills) become due just as do charge accounts of stores (private bills). There is no difference whatever in principle—but there is a great difference in fact, in that the government, if you fail to pay your tax bill, can use more harsh and ruinous methods on the individual to force payment than can the private store. There is no leniency shown by the tax collector. He collects your taxes, or he takes your property.—Industrial News Review.

THE SEEDS OF PROGRESS.

The only worthwhile progress comes from efforts of the individuals concerned.

The farmer is learning this truth. The much-heralded government farm relief program may not have collapsed—but it has certainly not justified the high hopes that were held out for it.

On the other hand, organized groups of farmers are showing agriculture what can be done through their own work, their own thought, their own tenacity.

During the depression real and permanent farm progress has been made—by farmer-owned farmer-controlled cooperative marketing associations.

These associations have gained in membership. They have made striking progress in trying to balance supply and demand, and in forwarding more scientific production methods. They have disseminated information that individual farmers were not in a position to obtain. Result: A start toward farm recovery.

It has long been said that self-help is best help. It is likewise the only kind of help that amounts to anything in the long run.—Industrial News Review.

STORM.

THINGS ONE REMEMBERS.

By R. M. Hofer.

Chickens come home to roost! From four widely separated Southern communities vigorous protests have arisen against the loss of local tax revenues resulting from government acquisition of property and its consequent removal from local tax rolls.

When people clamor for "free political pork" (government ownership of an industry or land in their community), they forget that the only way the pork barrel can be filled in order to make them the gift, is through money drawn from their own hard-earned savings by taxation. The politicians "give" them nothing except what they first take away.

A Georgia mayor wants something done about loss of municipal revenue occasioned by two large tax-free PWA housing projects which supplant former tax-paying property.

One North Carolina county wants the government to compensate it for taxes lost on account of huge acreage withdrawn for a tax-exempt park project.

Another county in the same state has now lost taxes from 52,000 acres of land taken by the government for a waterfowl refuge and wants relief along with the birds.

Six Tennessee counties find a loss in their tax rolls of from 5 to 35 per cent of total assessed valuation, as the result of TVA purchases.

One Senator declares that public ownership of railroads, which some are advocating, and public ownership of utilities would deprive his state of nine million dollars a year tax revenues. "Where in God's world are they going to make it up?" he asks.

The entire program of government competing in business with its own citizens would be laughable if it were not so serious. The politicians get votes by promising the people something for nothing, and the people try to get something which they think somebody else will pay for. In reality the people pay for the whole works, including the government-owned tax-exempt enterprises which destroy their own highly taxed businesses and ultimately government income itself. If this isn't an endless circle of destruction, what is?

Unless the people wake up to the menace of government ownership of property and industry, they will find more of their savings taken to finance political "hen houses", than they will have left to build homes for themselves.

Chesterfields "go to town"
They Satisfy

—that's just the 1935 way of saying what Chesterfields have been saying for years . . .

Chesterfields do about everything a cigarette ought to do.

Chesterfields have TASTE—yes plenty of it. But not too strong.

And Chesterfields are MILD—but they're not insipid or flat.
